

Device Recommendation

We believe that by allowing students choice within certain guidelines helps increase the sense of ownership and engagement with their device and therefore their proficiency in using it.

A “Full” Operating System

Whilst we have promoted choice for our students, we have some minimum requirements, and that is for a “full” operating system. This means:

- Microsoft Windows 10
- Apple’s MacOS

This excludes Operating Systems such as Apples’ iOS (commonly found on iPads, iPhones and iPod Touches) and Google’s Android (commonly found on various tablets, smart phones) or Chrome OS* (chromebooks).

If a student device has a full operating system, then generally they can overcome most software compatibility issues that may present themselves.

It also means that our teachers can plan with confidence that the student devices will support certain applications or file formats they choose to use. Additionally, students of Otago Boys’ High School qualify for a free copy of Microsoft Office -- desktop version and online version. This is another reason to be using a “full” operating system.

*NOTE: While its preferable to have a device with a “full” Operating System, Chromebooks have gained wide adoption in many schools, especially in intermediates. If your son already has a chromebook, then it perfectly acceptable to use that.
